Foley's Kidney Remedy will do the same for you. O. G. Schaefer and Red Cross Drug Store.

TORPEDO BOATS TO ESCORT TAFT DOWN THE RIVER

FLOTILLA OF SMALL WARFARE WILL GUARD THE PRESIDENTIAL STEAMBOAT

TO ENTERTAIN OFFICERS

St. Louis Preparing to Make Centennial Week a Gaia Occasion—Visiting Seamen Will Be Well Entertained as They Will Be One of Chief Attractions.

St. Louis, Sept. 29.—A week full of joy is in store for the officers and sailors of the United States torpedo boat flotilla that will participate in the celebration October 3 to 9, inclusive, of the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of St. Louis as a town, and afterwards escort President Taft from St. Louis to the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway convention at New Orleans.

This Centennial flotilla, consisting of the second division of the Atlantic torpedo fleet, consists of the torpedo boat destroyer MacDonough, "flagship" of the flotilla, Lieutenant Willis G. Mitchell commanding; the torpedo boat Thornton, Lieutenant Charles A. Blakeley commanding; the torpedo boat Tingey, Ensign Warren C. Nixon commanding; and the torpedo boat Wilkes, Ensign George C. Pogram commanding.

There will be something doing every minute of Centennial week, and the Centennial committees have so arranged the various events that Uncle Sam's visiting seamen will at all times be in the center of activity. And it is the desire of the St. Louis Centennial association, whose president is the Hon. Frederick H. Kreismann, mayor of the city, that both the commissioned officers and the non-commissioned officers and enlisted men wear their uniforms at all functions to which they may be invited.

The commissioned officers and the non-commissioned officers and enlisted men all will have an opportunity to dance in the new Coliseum, but at different balls. The commissioned officers, with the city's other distinguished Centennial visitors, including the mayors of 1,000 cities, will be guests of honor at the Velled Prophet's ball on the night of Tuesday, October 5. The non-commissioned officers and jacksies will be guests of honor at the costume ball of all nations, on the night of Thursday, October 7. A committee of members of the Million Population club, host of the ball, will escort the sailors from the flotilla to the Coliseum. This escort is said to be more than a mere honor. There is fear that unless an escort be furnished some of the jacksies will be lured astray by the bright lights. The Million Population club has prepared a good time for the non-commissioned officers and enlisted men and is determined that they shall be at the Coliseum to enjoy it.

The torpedo boat flotilla will be a feature of the water pageant on the Mississippi river Tuesday morning, October 5, commemorating the founding of St. Louis. Speed exhibitions by these fastest boats of the navy and demonstrations of their rapid fire guns in action will help to make the day one of the greatest in the history of the Mississippi river.

The other Centennial week events to which the naval visitors are invited include aeroplane, alrship and balloon races; the Velled Prophet pageant; the municipal pageant, which will be reviewed by the 1,000 visiting mayors; the industrial pageant, consisting of 200 floats; the educational historical-military pageant with college students, floats, soldiers, etc., and the parade of 1,000 automobiles.

The torpedo boat destroyers are among the most picturesque crafts of the navy. Built for speed, they are long and slender. From a height of perhaps a dozen feet above the water line at the sharply pointed bow, they taper to four or six feet at the stern. Four funnels, in groups of two, rise out of them. Their color is green and in full motion they are veritable "green streaks."

A typical destroyer measures 245 feet in length at the water line, while its greatest breadth or "beam" measurement is only 23 feet. With a mean draft of 6 feet 6 inches and a displacement of 425 tons, it is capable of cutting through the water at a speed of 31 miles an hour.

The vessels named make up the second division of the Atlantic torpedo fleet. The MacDonough is one of the largest of the torpedo boat destroyers, having a displacement of 400 tons. Its length at low water is 240 feet and 7 inches, and its engine is 8400 horse power. It carries two 18-inch whitehead torpedo tubes and four other guns of smaller sizes.

AT THE THEATRE

The Spooner-Wallock Stock company, which opened the fall and winter theatrical season in this city at the Duncan opera house Monday night, and which will be here the balance of the week, gave the second of its performances last night, presenting "The Octoroon," a play of dramatic climaxes dealing with southern life in the time of slavery.

The audience last night was smaller than on Monday night, but it seemed to enjoy the show, as evidenced by the applause, which was at times unstinted. Miss Ruby Dolores Rumley as "Zoe," "The Octoroon" was very good and read her lines with such pathos as to secure not only the close attention of her auditors, but their sympathy as well.

M. E. Spooner, in the role of Salem Scudder, a Yankee of Massachusetts, and overseer of Terrebonne plantation, where the scene of the play was laid, appeared to good advantage, and he injected considerable life into the play by his drollness. But for this the show would have lagged at times to a tiresome degree.

"Old Pete," a servant, portrayed by Frank Dilts, created his share of amusement, as did also Miss Dorothy Hall, the soubrette, who last night as Dora Sunnyside, an heiress, was handicapped by a part that was unsuited to her. However, in a specialty she elicited considerable applause by her singing, for she does possess a sweet voice.

The acting of the other members of the company was very good, in fact better than that of the average stock company caste, although in some instances there were breaks in the reading of their lines.

One thing which detracted from last night's performance was the absence of programs, which made it rather difficult for the audience to keep track of the characters and the acts. It is presumed that this was an oversight which will be remedied the balance of the week.

Withal, Las Vegas theatre-goers who wish to pass an evening away from home will find entertainment in attending the remaining bills to be offered each night, concluding Saturday, with a matinee that afternoon. However, they must not expect a $1.50 show for 25, 35 and 50 cents. The Spooner-Wallock company is about the usual standard of stock companies and puts on a fair show.

Tonight's bill will be a comedy entitled "A Lawyer's Wedding."
